October 2009

Dear Friends,

The summer has flown by and we find ourselves packing luggage. It has been wonderful to spend time with family and friends. Some of you we were not able to see, but we hope that you know how much you are appreciated. We could not attempt to continue to minister in Honduras without knowing that all of you are behind us, sending us.... "How could we go unless you send us?" (Paraphrase Romans 10) Thanks for your prayers as we fly back on October 18.

Honduran Political Crisis

Please pray for the Honduran government and all of its leaders. Although peace talks are continuing, at this time nothing has really been resolved. As the ousted president continues to take refuge in the Brazilian embassy, we are praying for a peaceful conclusion that would allow Honduras to have elections November 29 that would be recognized by the world community. The crisis has greatly affected the Honduran economy and, as such, crime is on the rise. Our home was broken into for the first time in our 15 years in Honduras. Bars on the kitchen window were broken, the glass window was busted out and the robbers were able to leave through a side door. We do not know what all was taken from us, but it doesn't appear to be anything major, although a laptop and a camera were stolen from our house sitters. Please pray for our safety and that we will be able to rest in the peace that only Christ can provide.

Homeschool

Kathee has already started classes with Abi and Lizzy. Hannah and Daniel are continuing to do their high school online. Please pray that this year will be a great time of learning and growing.

Future

So many opportunities for ministry are in our minds as we consider this next term in Honduras. We believe that God has great things in store. We are planning to make a new commitment to recording video teaching – primarily a package of teaching that a new congregation could use as a core curriculum. We also believe that God would want us to schedule city-wide events that would draw the splintered evangelical community together. Please pray for us as we dream of God's plan for us. We have a wonderful team of eight families in Honduras. Please help us have vision, wisdom and courage as we seek to lead this promising group. Check out www.world-reach.org to meet them all.

Communication

We would really like to do a better job of keeping up with all of you. Please send us an e-mail address or find us on facebook so that we can be better communicators. We look forward to hearing from you. You are loved and appreciated! Come see us!

In Him,

Tim and Kathee Hagler
