

guatemala bound!

Dear Friends,

May 2008

How thankful I am to each one of you for your faithfulness in praying for and supporting me during the past few months following my cross-cultural training in North Carolina. The fruit of your labor has prompted God to allow me to now go to Guatemala and learn the Spanish language.

To those of you who have welcomed me into your homes and churches, I am grateful. Many meetings and speaking engagements during the early months of 2008 have both encouraged and sharpened me in the endeavors to which God has called me to do.

In my absence, Glenda has graciously volunteered to continue the teen girls Bible study I began about a year ago. About five girls from the Alabaster area attend each week and learn many valuable insights concerning their relationship with God.

Words cannot rightly express the level of encouragement the people at McCalla Bible Church have given me. Each person is such a blessing, and one couple has offered their vehicle for my travels. How thankful I am for their generosity that reminds me of the matchless care of God.

Just recently, I received news from Juan Barrientos, the Field Director in Peru, of an opportunity for me to minister in Peru from September to December of 2008. During this time, I will be substituting a teaching position and continuing language studies through a private tutor. Following this exciting experience, I will resume formal language study in Guatemala at Christian Spanish Academy. I trust this will be a delightful time of expanding my knowledge of the many needs of Peru.

Currently, my monthly support level has exceeded fifty percent. How faithful God has been. I covet your prayers as I leave on May 30, 2008 for Guatemala.

In His Service,
